Come with me and walk a way
Down along the garden path
And see the modest violet.
Breathe in the sweet fragrance
And remember your childhood.
You will think of your mother
For the violet is mother's own flower.

We grow only the choicest of the many types and varieties of violets--those outstanding for form, beauty and fragrance.

PLANTING INSTRUCTIONS

Violets like fertile, moist soil enriched with humus. It is good practice to mix one tablespoonful of bone meal into the soil for each plant. Frequent overhead watering is good for them. When your plants arrive, if they seem wilted, immerse them, tops and all, in water and let them soak a few hours before planting. If they seem fresh, just dip the roots in water and plant at once.
